

Additional LOA Information and Requirements

A vessel issued a valid LOA must carry that LOA on board at all times while enrolled in the LOA program. The effective date of each LOA can be no earlier than one day after the date issued. A vessel's LOA will be valid and in effect for a period no less than its minimum enrollment duration. An LOA automatically expires at the end of a vessel's participation period, unless the owner/operator withdraws from an LOA program prior to that LOA's end date. To be eligible to withdraw from an LOA program, the vessel must meet the minimum enrollment requirement for that LOA and the owner/operator must contact the Greater Atlantic Region Permit Office to obtain a withdrawal certificate. The effective date of a withdrawal certificate can be no earlier than one day after the date requested. If a withdrawal is requested for a future date, then the date requested will be the end date. A vessel is not considered officially withdrawn from an LOA program until the owner/operator receives a withdrawal certificate.

LOA enrollments and withdrawals may be requested by mail, phone, or fax. The participation period for each LOA may not exceed the permit year for that fishery and owners/operators must apply each year to be issued an LOA for a given year.
